Access the powerful MERS fraud data to detect possible borrower's undisclosed liens. Through a new software from the developers of eRAMP the standard for MERS transaction processing since 2002, MERS members can verify a borrower's property information on a mortgage application and determine if he or she has obtained other mortgages secured by the same property, or if a borrower has an undisclosed number of mortgage loans—two scenarios that might indicate fraudulent activity.

For MERS members and subscribers, our Fraud Detection Tools support both pre-funding and post-funding fraud detection audits. By searching the borrower's social security number, the property address or MIN number, these tools can assist in the identification of undisclosed liens and multiple loans per borrower or property.
